PLAGUE OF CUT WORMS WILL FOLLOW MILLERS

State Zoologist Says Insects Are Harmful to Vegetation

PESTS DUE NEXT YEAR

Department Tells How to Combat Ravages That Will Follow

Mention has been made in the Mail of the myriads of brown millers which infest the town and swarm about the arc lights every night. Like those imbedded with the idea of becoming a J. Pierpont Morgan or a John D. Rockefeller in record time these millers get their wings scorched and fall to the ground where in places they literally cover the pavements and streets. Not only are they to be found in Charleroi, but every community is infested with the insect, and there has been much speculation as to what they are, and what mission they have to perform in the army of pests sent to harass and prey upon the bounties of Nature.

Over in Scottsdale a citizen of an inquiring turn of mind enclosed several specimens of the miller in a letter to Prof. H. A. Surface, Economic Zoologist of the State Department of Agriculture at Harrisburg. In the first mail Saturday Prof. Surface answered. The answer to the letter of inquiry is given below and should be preserved for next year when the cutworm pest will have to be fought. Dr. Surface wrote as follows:

"I have received and examined the insects which you sent to us. These insects are, as you said, in your interesting article, moths commonly called 'millers.' They belong to the cutworm family. They are then the winged forms of one of the cutworms. They are burdened by the scientific name of Aletia argillacea.

"The chief mission now in life is to fly and deposit their eggs, where the little larvae or worms that hatch from them will find the roots of vegetation, chiefly grasses and other herbaceous plants upon which they can feed until next summer, when the second generation of moths will come forth. It means that there is a strong possibility of an outbreak of damage by cutworms in that region next spring. Sod ground plowed this fall, and cultivated as late as possible in the winter, and again stirred with a cultivator in the early spring will be practically free from injury by these pests. Ground that is now in corn stalks, for example, will not be infested with them.

"It would be better if plants were sprayed this fall after the crop is removed, and the soil stirred or turned in part, as it gets colder or near to winter, and again in the early spring before it is to be planted. Finally, when the cutworms do make their appearance, they can be poisoned without difficulty by using the poison bran mash. Make this by stirring some coarse molasses into some bran that has been moistened with water, and for each pound, add one-half ounce Paris green or arsenic of lead. The powdered form is best. Stir this well through the bran, and after it is evenly distributed, drop a very little such as a small pinch or less than a quarter teaspoonful here and there among the plants to be protected, or in the garden or along the corn rows,

Traps for The Unwary

Railroad Finds Hobble Skirts and High Heels Cause Accidents

That high heels and hobble skirts are responsible for a large proportion of the injuries sustained by women while getting on and off trains and mounting and descending stairways in stations, is the conclusion reached by the Pennsylvania Railroad after an investigation covering three months in which 73 such cases were recorded. The injuries ranged from slight contusions to painful sprains and cuts. Typical of the causes set forth in the report are: "Heel caught on step of coach and tore off. High heel caught while descending stairs; wore hobble skirt."

Even in the new Pennsylvania Station at New York, where all descents are gradual and where the stairways are designed so as to minimize the possibility of such accidents, women fall victims to the high heel. It is pointed out that the railroad can do nothing to prevent these casualties, because "women of all times have followed styles that are dangerous to life and limb."

Speaker Shows Source of Statements Made in Debate

A MATTER OF HISTORY

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail:

Sir—I beg leave to remind you that I stated at the park on Sunday that the Socialists had established the Economic Commonwealth in Paris, Cartegent, and Seville. E. de Lavelle in "Socialism of Today," (page 43) says they were "absolutely sterile in economic reforms." It is easy to confiscate property, but to carry on industry on a gigantic scale requires more competent men than laborers. Lavelle was a Socialist.

When Archbishop Darboy was summoned before the judge of the Council of Discipline, Rigault asked him what was his profession. He replied: "I am a servant of God." "Where does he live?" "Everywhere." "Send this man to the Consergerie and issue a warrant for the arrest of one called God, who has no permanent residence and is living in a state of vagabondage." * * * replied the judge. Archbishop Darboy was ordered to be shot. When the order was given to fire he blessed the soldiers. "That is your benediction, is it?" "Now take mine," said Lolive, one of the soldiers, as he fired a pistol bullet into the Archbishop's body. See "Proletarian Revolt" (p. 158.) For official proof of this see Maxime du Camp's "Convulsions of Paris." The Editor of the Appeal to Reason

NEW STATION SHOWS TO GOOD ADVANTAGE

Outside Work Nearly Completed and Structure Adds to Beauty and Picturesqueness of Town—Finest on Division

G. W. Sheasley, master carpenter of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, was in Charleroi today, inspecting the work and progress of the new station here. The structure is so far along that its effect is apparent, and to say that it will add to the appearance of the town as well as to the convenience of the traveling public, is but a small portion of the benefits and effects the new station will bring.

Constructed of buff brick with a green tile roof and a porte cochere on the street side, the new station presents a decidedly picturesque effect. The outside work of the structure is practically completed and workmen this week are laying the tile floor. The work of finishing the interior will be pushed as rapidly as possible by the Charleroi Lumber company, which has the contract for building the station.

"I don't think any one has any criticisms to make," said Mr. Sheasley, after inspecting the new station and its effects. "The work is well done and the effect is certainly pleasing. This station reflects the policy of the company, which is to do things well. It takes them a long time to get started some times in the way of improvements, but when they once start they do things well."

It will be a matter of pride to Charleroi people to know that they have the nicest station along the whole division.

AGITATOR IN JAIL ON RIOT CHARGE

Disturbers Try to Foment Strike at Marianna Without Cause

Stephen Kirvish, one of the agitators, who with Patrick McGowan and Milli Kello, are alleged to have started a riot at Marianna last Sunday a week ago, is now locked up in the Washington county jail on a charge of riot. He was arrested Sunday morning.

Kirvish is one of the men who is alleged to have caused the trouble at Marianna a week ago. Kirvish was arrested Sunday morning and his arrest brought a rumor that there was more trouble in that model mining community. The rumor was without foundation as the arrest of Kirvish did not cause a ripple in that heretofore peace loving community.

Kirvish had been wanted by the authorities of Washington county for an alleged attempt with three others to incite a riot in Marianna Sunday a week ago. It is alleged that with McGowan and Zello, Kirvish started trouble among the men employed at Marianna. During a mass meeting held yesterday a week ago at which a number of the leading officials of the United Mine Workers of which nearly all the miners are members, were present, it was made plain that the alleged grievances as set forth by these men were undounded.

The trouble between the Feehan and Gibbon's factions of the United Mine Workers was attempted to be injected into the meeting. These men are then alleged to have started trouble and the official representative of the United Mine Workers set upon and beaten.

Constable William Simpson, who tried to quell the disturbance, was assaulted and badly beaten and when he again attempted to arrest four of the ringleaders, was the second time assaulted. Information was made against the agitators but they are said to have left Marianna before warrants could be served.

Kirvish was discovered Sunday morning and placed under arrest. He was taken to the Washington county jail where a charge of riot has been placed against him. Everything is said to have been peaceful at Marianna since.

COMMITTEE TO SEE REV. SUNDAY

Plans About Completed for Financing Religious Campaign

At a meeting of the evangelistic committee appointed by the various churches of the community to try to secure Rev. Billy Sunday for an engagement, held at Monesse Sunday afternoon, a committee was appointed to put the proposition up to Rev. Sunday and try to secure a date. Other preliminaries have been arranged, and it is now up to the evangelist whether or not he will consent to come here for a campaign.

It is stated that plans for financing the project have virtually been completed, and several sites for a tabernacle have been pre-empted. These will be submitted to Rev. Sunday and if he accepts the selection will probably be subject to his preference. The plan is for all of the towns along the river to unite in the movement, and to bear a proportionate part of the expense.

FIREMEN ARE READY FOR FIELD MEET

The Charleroi Volunteer Fire Department, under command of Chief J. M. Fleming, are ready to journey to South Brownsville Thursday to engage in a program of field sports with the company there. A large delegation will leave on the morning train. A ball game will be played in the forenoon, and races and a water battle will take place in the afternoon.

GRADE NEARLY READY FOR LAYING RAILS

Between Connellsville and Fort Hill five miles of rails have been laid on the Western Maryland railroad. The stretch of steel starts at Confluence and runs eastward towards the end of Division Engineer Palmer's stretch of road.

As soon as the cut at Confluence is completed, probably next week, one bridge is to be put in place and after that the rails will be laid towards Ohio. Once the bridge is placed the work of putting down the lines of steel will be rushed rapidly.

This is the road that the P & L E. road expects to make connections with to the seaboard, and for that purpose is building a connecting link from the Monongahela river from Fayette City to Dickerson Run, not far from Connellsville. When arrangements are completed it is expected that passenger trains will run to the seacoast by way of this cut-off.

DR. A. V. LEWIS ALONE CAN SMILE SERENELY

New Plant In Prospect

Page Fence Company of Adrian May Come to Monessen

It is reported that the plant of the Page Woven Wire Fence company now located at Adrian, Mich., will be removed to Monessen in the near future. The Page plant at Monessen is considered one of the most prosperous wire industries in the country and the consolidation of the two plants would be within the bounds of possibility. The company has been making big improvements on the local plant from year to year and increasing the output as well as the number of employees. Adjacent to the works and located along the railroad is a plot of ground of several acres which is undeveloped and this it is thought was secured for the purpose of combining the two plants.

With the proposed addition to the plant of the Pittsburgh Steel which will undoubtedly be built during the coming year the industrial prospects for Monessen never looked brighter. The latter company has already made all financial arrangements for the big improvements.

QUESTIONS ACCURACY

Socialistic Champion Asks Proof of Statements at Park

IS READY TO DEBATE

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail: Sir—In yesterday's Mail I notice a report of the debate Sunday at the park. The interruptions that you say came from hoodlums are no doubt to be regretted, but let me say that if the Socialist speaker had used the same methods as Mr. Callaghan I think that something worse than hooting may have happened. Mr. Callaghan certainly tried the patience of those in the audience who know something about history and also tolerance by trying to raise religious prejudice, and by making false statements to discredit the Socialists.

Mr. Callaghan made some statements concerning the French Commune that I challenged him to prove. I deny that any such occurrence as the parading of a naked woman to a church, and the challenging of God as a witness took place during the French Commune, and on the shoulders of Mr. Callaghan rests the burden of proof. And as he cannot prove something that never occurred, I hope that he will excuse himself.

There were plenty of regretful occurrences during those sad days without trying to make them appear any worse, and one of the saddest was the massacre of nearly 35,000 people by the troops of Thiers, troops that showed more ability in shooting

Only Republican County Candidate Sure of Nomination

ALL ON ANXIOUS SEAT

Slate Making Rather Easy But Very Hard to Pull Through

With the primary election only four days off, the county nominees on the Republican ticket are nowhere near the all-over-but-the-shouting period. Some will declare that they have the nominations cinched, but the only one who is really serene on that score is Dr. A. V. Lewis of Donora, Republican candidate for prothonotary. He has no opposition, and is sure to land the Republican nomination. Even the most sanguine candidates are lacking in the smile that Dr. Lewis wears, which, like President Taft's, won't come off.

As a matter of fact the result is all a gamble. Even the alleged slate is broken so far as hanging together is concerned. The different elements who promoted the alleged deal are not trusting each other, and a comparison of notes has revealed the fact that some of the most active ones in the alleged frame-up have been trying to deal outside. The friends of two of the candidates for the same office who were not named in the alleged combine were comparing notes the other night, and it was discovered that each candidate had assurance from one of the prominent alleged slate makers of active support and each thought he had the matter cinched in that quarter. As the majority of the candidates on the alleged frame-up were not a party to the deal themselves, they are trying to work out their own salvation with the voters just as ardently as though they had no powerful interests back of them, which as a matter of fact, none are sure that they have.

For the last week the anti-slate elements have been concentrating their fire on Donora, which is pretty sure to give its solid Republican vote to Dr. Lewis. As this solid vote of Donora's was the incentive for the alleged frame-up it is a matter of some surprise that efforts should have been made to have gotten the opposition to Lewis removed. This puts Donora in a position by which it is forced to show its hand in the alleged deal, and if the solid vote is cast for other candidates of the alleged slate it will certainly jeopardize Lewis' chances at the November election, as a big contingent, if reports are true, are busily grinding their snickersees in order to be ready for an emergency.

A careful survey by some of the old political scouts along the river resulted in the conclusion that the voters generally have not made up their minds, and that some psychological force at the last moment may turn a considerable tide of voters in this or that direction, or it may be so evenly divided that it will be a close race with the field. No one really knows who is in the lead, except that certain elements are favorable to this or that candidate, but none of these elements are sufficient in themselves to pull any one candidate through.

Those best informed on the situation invariably report that the vote

OHIO'S CONSTITUTION.

It is stated that Ohio is to have a
new constitution, and that a convention to revise the old one and compile a new code to submit for the people to adopt will be called soon. Already some radical features are being presented and submitted for the proposed changes.

Chief among these will be the referendum and recall. This one feature has already gained such a popularity that demands are being made
for it all along the line. The labor organizations want it; the farmers,
that is the granger element, are hot
for it, and a big element of the conservative middle class business people, the merchants, small manufacurers and those not interested in large corporate and industrial interests in favor of the people being
the direct arbiters of all public affairs. In connection with the referendum and recall some radical propositions are made, one of which is
that no court should declare a law unconstitutional after the people have declared for it. This is not so radical after all, as the people are not likely to endorse anything inimical to their welfare in the long run.

A constitutional revision just now
would be an interesting process, and
proceedings in Ohio will no doubt be
watched with interest by economical
students in all of the States.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN.

There is much talk of "trust bust-
ing" these days and with the possible investigation of the United States Steel corporation by the Government to see whether or not that
concern is doing business in conflict with the anti-trust laws, there is
a possibility of that mammoth concern and all its various interests shutting down and awaiting the decision
of the Government and be idle for an indefinite period while its officials
devise ways and means to readjust
its business.

As a result of this adjustment the enforced idleness would likely include the big tin plate mill at Mon-
essen, all the mammoth works at Donora, the big blast furnaces at Bamford and the billet mills on

down to the wire mills. In addition
all the mines of the Pittsburgh Coal
company would be affected, as the United States Steel corporation gets
the big end of its coal supply from the Pittsburgh Coal company. If this gigantic trust is "busted," those
who feed upon the imaginary wrongs
of the trusts would no doubt feel a gleam of satisfaction, but would it
pay? Is this satisfaction sufficient compensation for the idleness entailed
upon the hundreds of thousands of
working people who would be without jobs during this re-construction
period, and the consequent set-back
to progress it would entail?

It is well to talk about the period
of readjustment. We in Charleroi are doing the readjustment act to a considerable extent just now. We are trying to adjust business conditions
so that we can get along without the aid of the payrolls of two big industries, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass factory and the Charleroi Coal Works,
both adjuncts of a big trust, which although not "busted," is nevertheless
feeling the restraints of depressed
business to such an extent that the big industries here are shut down and
idle, with the result that the readjustment involves dozens of good families moving out of town to seek employment elsewhere. Because of this about $50,000 a month less is being paid out here in wages; houses are unrented and idle, and incomes from
that source cut off. Every business
house is doing less business on account of this shut down and the readjustment process is a most severe
one for the present generation at least.

The trust is the evolution of cut-
throat competition, and there must be another evolution to meet the situation instead of "busting" the trusts
and going through the same fierce competition that demoralized all industry until an agreement was reached to pursue an even middle
course.

down defenseless people than in fighting the Prussians a few months
before.

Because the American Socialists
celebrate the fight for Freedom in Paris in 1871 does not mean that they celebrate the deeds of revenge or cruelty that occur in all wars? And if the Socialist speaker had tried to impress the audience with the idea
that when we celebrate here the 4th
of July we celebrate the many deeds
of unnecessary violence committed
during the war, she would have also
been interrupted.

The Paris Commune was by no
means a Socialist upheaval and
whatever may have been its shortcomings and the deeds of the last
days of fighting all impartial historians admit that during the three months Paris was administered by
the government elected after the 18th
of March, there was less crime than
during any other period.

Again, what would you say of a man who after asking his opponent if
he stood by the Republican platform
would dig into the religious views and marital relations of some prominent Republican and say: "There you are,
you endorse his views and actions." How much patience would you have
with that method of debating?

All the Socialists are not angels.
Neither are all the Republicans or Democrats. And Socialism as a political party is not bothering itself
with religion. Our platform says
that religion is a personal matter,
and that is the collective expression
of the Socialists.

I remember the time when the
miners were beginning to organize
the operators tried to keep them apart
on religious prejudice. Now that the working people are beginning to unite politically the same tactics are again used. But they will fail.

If there is in Charleroi any one who cares to debate the question, I am at
his service on the condition that it will be a debate and not a mud slinging party.

LIFE PERIODS AND CLOTHES

How a Man's Tastes in Raiment Differ From Youth to Careless Old Age.

It is interesting to follow a man in the matter of his raiment. There are established periods in his life where in his tastes differ, and his ways differ, and from start to finish the matter is one of considerable interest.

When he is under age and at college, his taste runs riot in the matter of clothing. Weird checks, fearful plaids, remarkable cuts of balloon-like pants and box-like coats appeal to him. The matter of a quarter inch in length of a coat concerns him greatly, and he begins to have his pants pressed with four creases in them, pointing to the north, south, east and west.

When he goes to work he carries some of this wonderful raiment with him. It is a link that connects him with glad college days. But the link wears out, and he is busy, and presently you see him in wholly different attire. He is neat enough, but his weird taste has changed.

He now goes in for business suits and is painfully exact in his dress for the evening.

But as he gets along in business he ceases to have his clothing pressed. He marries and his wife keeps after him to put on a clean collar. He has long ceased to wear shoes for looks and has his shoes made to order because he likes 'em to be 4 17-18 inches wide at the toe in order to obtain comfort. He has them shined whenever any event comes along and reminds him of it.

And finally his whole family leap upon him. They call him slouchy, and when he gets a new suit it is a family matter in which the individual views of the family combine, and his own are lost. For it's always that way, and probably always will be.—Galveston News.

GUARANTY OF HIS SILENCE

Presence of Masterful Wife in Church
Stopped Objectionable Noise Man
Thought Was Singing.

Unexpectedly a city pastor who encouraged congregational singing gained a new parishioner. Keen though his delight in hearing his people sing, there was one member of his flock whose endeavors he never encouraged. But the man sang without encouragement, much to the discomfort of pewholders anywhere near him, who claimed that his loud, unmusical voice threw them out of tune.

Repeated complaints convinced the minister that somebody would have to assume the responsibility of silencing the ambitious singer. He decided that the man's wife was best fitted for the job. Owing to a difference in religious views husband and wife attended different churches, but the minister knew her, so he called and explained his predicament. She was genuinely surprised.

"Do you mean to say he sings?" she said.

"Tries to," amended the pastor. She thought a minute. "I shall have to come there to church," she said.

"I shall be glad to see you," said the minister, "but what effect will that have on your husband's singing?"

The look she gave him was more significant than words, and they meant a good deal.

"John will never open his mouth when I am around," she said. And John never has.

The Child Snob.

There is a natural, simple and rather high-minded etiquette among children; also is there an unlovely and artificial etiquette among children who have heard and seen too much of an unlovely world; for children can be the worst of snobs. Some little girls, ten or twelve years old, daughters of a rich neighborhood, were found to be examining the petticoats of new children who ventured in their neighborhood to play. Unless their underclothes were hand-made, they were not voted good enough to play in the established set!

A child may be cruelly ostracized for some difference, some lack of clothing or appearance. Do you remember the story of the poor little girl who used to bring blocks tied up in a napkin to school to look as though she had lunch like the other children? But among unspoiled and natural children the child who is different need not suffer for any length of time. A strong character and a sweet temperament will win through any artificial barrier of circumstances.—The Designer

Something Like a Nerve.

The talk in the club had been of cool deeds on the battlefield, when the member who rarely spoke broke in on our conversation.

"The coolest bit of nerve I ever saw," he drawled, "was when I was motoring in the Midlands with the Honorable Jimmy. It had been raining, and as we turned the corner of the village street we skidded badly, then shot forward. Crashing into the little postoffice, we smashed the front of the shop clean through and knocked down the village postman. It was then that the Honorable Jimmy showed what he was made of. He jumped out of the car, and, advancing to the terrified girl behind the counter, said in his blandest voice:

"Two ha'penny stamps, please, miss."—London Tit-Bits.

Can Defy Microbes.

A doctor in Yokohama, Japan, has built himself a novel house with view to guarding against microbes. The walls of this remarkable edifice are made of blocks of glass. They are hollow, the interstices being filled up with a solution of salts of soda which is intended to regulate the temperature of the interior. The windows are hermetically closed, and air is only admitted after passing through filters.

Curious Neighbors Follied.

A wealthy New York society woman has recently become very much interested in city missionary work. In her district is a poor, but respectable family named Moriarty, living on the top floor rear of a tenement house in a congested east side street.

Every time she has visited the Moriartys she has been much annoyed by the staring and whispering of the other occupants of the building. The other day she spoke to Mrs. Moriarty about it.

"Your neighbors seem very curious to know who and what I am," she remarked.

"They do so," acquiesced Mrs. Moriarty.

"Do they ask you about it?"

"Indeed they do, ma'am."

"And do you tell them?"

"Faith, thin, an' Oi do not. Oi just say you're me dressmaker, an' let it go at that."—Metropolitan Magazine.

"Ancient Painters.

Among the Greeks the most famous painters were Climon of Cleona, Polygrotus, Zeuxis, Apelles, Apollodorus and Parrhasius. Of these the greatest were Zeuxis, who is said to have laughed himself to death over the picture of an old woman that he had painted, and Apelles, who, according to some accounts, painted cherries so perfectly that the birds pecked at them, thinking them real. Apelles was a contemporary of Alexander the Great, and was commanded by the conqueror of the world to paint his picture. His greatest work was "Venus Rising From the Sea," painted for the Temple of Esculapius, at Cos, and costing, it is said, over $100,000. It is claimed that no artist was able to complete his unfinished pictures, many of which he left at the time of his death.

The Fatal Ring.

An amazing story is told by the late head of the Paris morgue. Five times within his experience dead bodies brought to the morgue were found to be wearing a certain ring easily distinguishable by its strange design. It bore in Eastern characters this legend: "May whosoever wears this ring die a miserable death." M. Macoe, late chief of the Paris police, vouches for the truth of this.

The Shutter Is No More.

A writer describes the forenoon Sunday Strand and Fleet Street as "a shuttered desert," and doubtless he is quite satisfied with the phrase. But is it accurate? How many shuttered windows does he think he would see in these thoroughfares on a Sunday—or at any other time when the shops are shut? As a matter of fact the shutter has gone from central London, and is rapidly passing even from the suburbs. At what date did the shutter begin to disappear? It was a fitting of all shops as late as the '80s. The worst the modern shop shows on Sundays is the blind. And most shops present the week-day temptation with a closed door.—London Chronicle.

She Had Consumption Was Dying; Now Well

Eckman's Alternative is being used with success in the treatment of Tuberculosis. Persons who have taken it improved, gained weight, exhausting night sweats stopped, fever diminished, and many recovered. If you are interested to know more about it, we will put you in touch with some who are now well. You can investigate and judge for yourself. Head of Mrs. Govett's recovery. Griffith, Ind. "Gentlemen: Thinking that perhaps a short history of the remarkable cure of my mother-in-law (Mrs. Anna Govett) might benefit some other sufferers, I hereby give the following testimonial: About September 10, 1908, she was taken sick with Catarrhal Pneumonia, and continually grew worse, requiring a trained nurse. Night sweats were so bad that it was necessary to change her clothing once or twice every night; her cough increased and got so bad that everybody expected that she would not live much longer. The trained nurse (Miss Anna Truitt) informed me that she had Tuberculosis and nothing could be done for her. In January, when Rev. Wm. Berg, of St. Michael's Church, at Shererville, Ind., prepared for her death, he recommended that I get some Eckman's Alternative, and see if it would not give her some relief. I then requested the attending physician to give his diagnosis and he informed me that she had Consumption and was beyond all medical aid. When I asked if he thought that it was useless to try the Alternative, he replied that 'No physician could help her any and I could suit myself about it.' So I immediately, and Rev. Wm. Berg to send for a bottle. Practically without hope for recovery, I insisted that she try the Alternative, which she did. At the end of the first week's treatment, she got so bad that she refused to take any more of it, but the doctor advised her to keep on taking it, as it was the only thing that might help her. I am glad to say now that she kept on and soon began to improve. Now, she works as hard as ever, weighs twenty pounds heavier than she ever did before she took sick, and is in good health. She frankly says she owes her life and health to Eckman's Alternative. We kept it on hand at all times and recommend it highly. (Signed Affidavit) J. S. GRIMMER." Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. An Eskimo's Dwelling.
We do not look for any great amount of inventive genius among the Eskimos, but for years they have employed a rather complete respirator, used in the preparation and taking of a vapor bath, as a means of protection from the dense smoke. This Eskimo respirator is a little basket woven of twisted strands of fine grass. It is placed with its shallow side against the mouth, and a wooden peg, which arises from the center of the basket, is held between the teeth. For this purpose water is evaporated over a big fire in a very low hut, which is tightly closed to keep in the heat. In this stifling atmosphere the employment of a respirator is absolutely necessary.

RAILROAD LINE NEARS COMPLETION

Important Connections with This Section When Route is Opened

It is announced that the sub-grading on the street car line between Monongahela and Donora will be completed this coming week, after which the work of construction will actively begin. A number of teams have already been engaged to haul ballast for the track, which will be distributed along the line as fast as delivered. The girded rail will be used on this stretch of track and the road will be paved between the rails with brick. The work of construction will begin at the Donora end and will be pushed as fast as weather will permit.

Already a large quantity of ties have been distributed between Black Diamond and the Donora borough line as well as a consignment of rails. With the ballast in place it will not require the construction gang a great deal of time to place the ties and rails. The line should be completed before the fall weather is over.

BOOZE SELLERS GET HEAVY SENTENCE

Two pleaders were before Judge McIlvaine at Washington Monday. Annie Yauch of Monongahela, who had been conducting a boarding house admitted selling beer. She gave as her excuse that she had not been in this country long and did not understand the customs. She was directed to pay the costs, fine of $500 and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for three months.

Adam Marshall of Bentleyville, signed a plea of guilty to selling liquor without license. The private prosecutor was W. E. Snyder, the constable. Marshall stated he had not been engaged in the illegal business of selling liquor without license. He stated a man simply came to him and asked him for a bottle of beer. He gave him one, the man threw down ten cents, and was gone before he could refuse to take the money. He was given the minimum sentence of $500 and costs and three months in jail.

VICTIM STABBED; DIES IN HOSPITAL

Jim Johnson, a negro, who is alleged to have been stabbed by Garfield Garnet in a row over a gambling debt at Monongahela Friday, died in the Memorial hospital Saturday night. Garnett was arrested after the stabbing and is now in the county jail.

The murder was the alleged result of a quarrel over a game of chance in which it was claimed that a debt or honor was unsettled between the two men. An argument started and it is alleged that Garfield plunged a knife into Johnston's abdomen. Shortly after the cutting Garfield was arrested by Constable W. J. Hilton.

Marvelous Antiseptic that Draws Glass, Wood and Needles from The Flesh.

There never was known such a powerful drawing ointment as San Cura. Wherever it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitchcock, of Centerville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

Nothing so healing or antiseptic can be purchased today. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by W. F. Hennings' to quickly cure any kind of piles, eczema, tetter, salt rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains, and chapped hands or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies such as bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it kills the pain instantly. It's medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 25c and 50 c a jar at W. F. Hennings.

will be divided in their respective districts, so far as they can learn, and that as all the candidates are good and efficient men, no particular one has the lead. If one shows any particular strength in one community, he is likely to be supplanted by another elsewhere, and so it goes. While it may develop that some one candidate may run away ahead at the election, there is nothing to indicate it now, and for that reason all will continue to be on the anxious seat after the primary--Dr. Lewis of course excepted.

A meeting of the school board has been called for tonight at which time the election of a High School teacher will be probably taken up as well as the selection of janitor for the Ninth street school building.

James Keenan, a street car conductor in Washington is a victim of hard luck. Saturday evening he alighted from his car to turn a switch light at a corner crossing in Washington, when a bicycle rider came along and knocked him down. Before he could get up an auto wizzed along and ran over him. Keenan awoke in bed and was unable to tell whether he had been caught in a wreck or was blown up by dynamite.

LADY MACCABEES SURPRISE MEMBER

Have Pleasant Time and Present Hostess With Pretty Emblem

Dropping in suddenly and unannounced the Lady Maccabees gave one of their sisters, Mrs. Mary Nicholson of Crest avenue, a very pleasant surprise Monday evening. This was one of a series of surprises which this order has been conferring upon beloved members when occasion warranted, such as a birthday anniversary, or an opportunity to show their esteem, and the present affair was up to the standard in being enjoyable. Various diversions furnished entertainment, one of which was the presentation of a handsome Maccabee emblem to the hostess. Lunch was served, which was not the least enjoyable feature of the evening.

WILL GIVE APPLES TO SPECTATORS

The fruit growers of Oregon have arranged through the Oregon Development League of Portland, to send a car load of Oregon apples to the Pittsburgh Land Show next month for free distribution to visitors there. The railroads will give this car free transportation from the Pacific slope and also have fine fruit displays in this show, and it is likely that the growers of West Virginia will initiate the example of Oregon in providing a large quantity of apples to be used as free gifts to visitors.

W. E. COREY FOR CONSTABLE

G. W. Corey in this issue announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination for constable. Mr. Corey has been a citizen of Charleroi ever since the town started, and is well and favorably known. He was 13 years weighmaster at the Charleroi Coal Works, a position of responsibility and trust that required good business qualifications to fill and which Mr. Corey performed to the satisfaction of his employer. If nominated and elected he promises to give the same careful business attention to the duties of the office, and he presents his claims to the voters for their consideration at the primary.

It is also a good means of destroying the climbing cutworms, which climb small trees and feed on the foliage at night.

PLAGUE OF CUT WORMS WILL FOLLOW MILLERS

State Zoologist Says Insects Are Harmful to Vegetation

PESTS DUE NEXT YEAR

Department Tells How to Combat Ravages That Will Follow

Mention has been made in the Mail of the myriads of town millers which infest the town and swarm about the arc lights every night. Like those imbedded with the idea of becoming a J. Pierpont Morgan or a John D. Rockefeller in record time these millers get their wings scorched and fall to the ground where in places they literally cover the pavements and streets. Not only are they to be found in Charleroi, but every community is infested with the insect, and there has been much speculation as to what they are, and what mission they have to perform in the army of pests sent to harass and prey upon the bounties of Nature.

Over in Scottsdale a citizen of an inquiring turn of mind enclosed several specimens of the miller in a letter to Prof. H. A. Surface, Economic Zoologist of the State Department of Agriculture at Harrisburg. In the first mail Saturday Prof. Surface answered. The answer to the letter of inquiry is given below and should be preserved for next year when the cutworm pest will have to be fought. Dr. Surface wrote as follows:

"I have received and examined the insects which you sent to us. These insects are, as you said, in your interesting article, moths commonly called 'millers.' They belong to the cutworm family. They are then the winged forms of one of the cutworms. They are burdened by the scientific name of Aletia argillacea.

"The chief mission now in life is to fly and deposit their eggs, where the little larvae or worms that hatch from them will find the roots of vegetation, chiefly grasses and other herbaceous plants upon which they can feed until next summer, when the second generation of moths will come forth. It means that there is a strong possibility of an outbreak of damage by cutworms in that region next spring. Sod ground plowed this fall, and cultivated as late as possible in the winter, and again stirred with a cultivator in the early spring will be practically free from injury by these pests. Ground that is now in corn stalks, for example, will not be infested with them.

"It would be better if plants were sprayed this fall after the crop is removed, and the soil stirred or turned in part, as it gets colder or near to winter, and again in the early spring before it is to be planted. Finally, when the cutworms do make their appearance, they can be poisoned without difficulty by using the poison bran mash. Make this by stirring some coarse molasses into some bran that has been moistened with water, and for each pound, add one-half ounce Paris green or arsenic of lead. The powdered form is best. Stir this well through the bran, and after it is evenly distributed, drop a very little such as a small pinch or less than a quarter teaspoonful here and there among the plants to be protected, or in the garden or along the corn rows,

Traps for The Unwary

Railroad Finds Hobble Skirts and High Heels Cause Accidents

That high heels and hobble skirts are responsible for a large proportion of the injuries sustained by women while getting on and off trains and mounting and descending stairways in stations, is the conclusion reached by the Pennsylvania Railroad after an investigation covering three months in which 73 such cases were recorded. The injuries ranged from slight contusions to painful sprains and cuts. Typical of the causes set forth in the report are: "Heel caught on step of coach and tore off. High heel caught while descending stairs; wore hobble skirt."

Even in the new Pennsylvania Station at New York, where all descents are gradual and where the stairways are designed so as to minimize the possibility of such accidents, women fall victims to the high heel. It is pointed out that the railroad can do nothing to prevent these casualties, because "women of all times have followed styles that are dangerous to life and limb."

Speaker Shows Source of Statements Made in Debate

A MATTER OF HISTORY

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail:

Sir—I beg leave to remind you that I stated at the park on Sunday that the Socialists had established the Economic Commonwealth in Paris, Cartegnot, and Seville. E. de Laveille in "Socialism of Today" (page 43) says they were "absolutely sterile in economic reforms." It is easy to confiscate property, but to carry on industry on a gigantic scale requires more competent men than laborers. Laveille was a Socialist.

When Archbishop Darboy was summoned before the judge of the Council of Discipline, Rigault asked him what was his profession. He replied: "I am a servant of God." "Where does he live?" "Everywhere." "Send this man to the Conscience and issue a warrant for the arrest of one called God, who has no permanent residence and is living in a state of vagabondage." * * * replied the judge. Archbishop Darboy was ordered to be shot. When the order was given to fire he blessed the soldiers. "That is your benediction, is it?" "Now take mine," said Lollie, one of the soldiers, as he fired a pistol bullet into the Archbishop's body. See "Proletarian Revolt" (p. 158.) NEW STATION SHOWS TO GOOD ADVANTAGE

Outside Work Nearly Completed and Structure Adds to Beauty and Picturesqueness of Town—Finest on Division

G. W. Sheasley, master carpenter of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, was in Charleroi today, inspecting the work and progress of the new station here. The structure is so far along that its effect is apparent, and to say that it will add to the appearance of the town as well as to the convenience of the traveling public is but a small portion of the benefits and effects the new station will bring.

Constructed of buff brick with a green tile roof and a porte cochere on the street side, the new station presents a decidedly picturesque effect. The outside work of the structure is practically completed and workmen this week are laying the tile floor. The work of finishing the interior will be pushed as rapidly as possible by the Charleroi Lumber company, which has the contract for building the station.

"I don't think any one has any criticisms to make," said Mr. Sheasley, after inspecting the new station and its effects. "The work is well done and the effect is certainly pleasing. This station reflects the policy of the company, which is to do things well. It takes them a long time to get started some times in the way of improvements, but when they once start they do things well."

It will be a matter of pride to Charleroi people to know that they have the nicest station along the whole division.

AGITATOR IN JAIL ON RIOT CHARGE

Disturbers Try to Foment Strike at Marianna Without Cause

Stephen Kirvish, one of the agitators, who with Patrick McGowan and Mili Kello, are alleged to have started a riot at Marianna last Sunday a week ago, is now locked up in the Washington county jail on a charge of riot. He was arrested Sunday morning.

Kirvish is one of the men who is alleged to have caused the trouble at Marianna a week ago. Kirvish was arrested Sunday morning and his arrest brought a rumor that there was more trouble in that model mining community. The rumor was without foundation as the arrest of Kirvish did not cause a ripple in that heretofore peace loving community.

Kirvish had been wanted by the authorities of Washington county for an alleged attempt with three others to incite a riot in Marianna Sunday a week ago. It is alleged that with McGowan and Zello, Kirvish started trouble among the men employed at Marianna. During a mass meeting held yesterday a week ago at which a number of the leading officials of the United Mine Workers of which nearly all the miners are members, were present, it was made plain that the alleged grievances as set forth by these men were unfounded.

The trouble between the Feehan and Gibbon's factions of the United Mine Workers was attempted to be injected into the meeting. These men are then alleged to have started trouble and the official representative of the United Mine Workers set upon and beaten.

Constant William Simpson who tried to quell the disturbance, was assaulted and badly beaten and when he again attempted to arrest four of the ringleaders, was the second time assaulted. Information was made against the agitators but they are said to have left Marianna before warrants could be served.

Kirvish was discovered Sunday morning and placed under arrest. He was taken to the Washington county jail where a charge of riot has been placed against him. Everything is said to have been peaceful at Marianna since.

COMMITTEE TO SEE REV. SUNDAY

Plans About Completed for Financing Religious Campaign

At a meeting of the evangelistic committee appointed by the various churches of the community to try to secure Rev. Billy Sunday for an engagement, held at Monessen Sunday afternoon, a committee was appointed to put the proposition up to Rev. Sunday and try to secure a date. Other preliminaries have been arranged, and it is now up to the evangelist whether or not he will consent to come here for a campaign.

It is stated that plans for financing the project have virtually been completed, and several sites for a tabernacle have been pre-empted. These will be submitted to Rev. Sunday and if he accepts the selection will probably be subject to his preference. The plan is for all of the towns along the river to unite in the movement, and to bear a proportionate part of the expense.

FIREMEN ARE READY FOR FIELD MEET

The Charleroi Volunteer Fire Department, under command of Chief J. M. Fleming, are ready to journey to South Brownsville Thursday to engage in a program of field sports with the company there. A large delegation will leave on the morning train. A ball game will be played in the forenoon, and races and a water battle will take place in the afternoon.

GRADE NEARLY READY FOR LAYING RAILS

Between Connellsville and Fort Hill five miles of rails have been laid on the Western Maryland railroad. The stretch of steel starts at Confluence and runs eastward towards the end of Division Engineer Palmer's stretch of road.

As soon as the cut at Confluence is completed, probably next week, one bridge is to be put in place and after that the rails will be laid towards Ohio. Once the bridge is placed the work of putting down the lines of steel will be rushed rapidly.

This is the road that the P & L. E. road expects to make connections with to the seaboard, and for that purpose is building a connecting link from the Monongahela river from Fayette City to Dickerson Run, not far from Connellsville. When arrangements are completed it is expected that passenger trains will run to the seaboard by way of this cut-off.

New Plant In Prospect

Page Fence Company of Adrian May Come to Monessen

It is reported that the plant of the Page Woven Wire Fence company now located at Adrian, Mich., will be removed to Monessen in the near future. The Page plant at Monessen is considered one of the most prosperous wire industries in the country and the consolidation of the two plants would be within the bounds of possibility. The company has been making big improvements on the local plant from year to year and increasing the output as well as the number of employees. Adjacent to the works and located along the railroad is a plot of ground of several acres which is undeveloped and this it is thought was secured for the purpose of combining the two plants.

With the proposed addition to the plant of the Pittsburgh Steel which will undoubtedly be built during the coming year the industrial prospects for Monessen never looked brighter. The latter company has already made all financial arrangements for the big improvements.

QUESTIONS ACCURACY

Socialistic Champion Asks Proof of Statements at Park

IS READY TO DEBATE

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail:

Sir—In yesterday's Mail I notice a report of the debate Sunday at the park. The interruptions that you say came from hoodlums are no doubt to be regretted, but let me say that if the Socialist speaker had used the same methods as Mr. Callaghan I think that something worse than hooting may have happened here. Mr. Callaghan certainly tried the patience of those in the audience who know something about history and also tolerance by trying to raise religious prejudice, and by making false statements to discredit the Socialists.

Mr. Callaghan made some statements concerning the French Commune that I challenged him to prove. I deny that any such occurrence as the parading of a naked woman to a church, and the challenging of God as a witness took place during the French Commune, and on the shoulders of Mr. Callaghan rests the burden of proof. And as he cannot prove something that never occurred, I hope that he will excuse himself.

There were plenty of regretful occurrences during those sad days without trying to make them appear any worse, and one of the saddest was the massacre of nearly 35,000 people by the troops of Thiers, troops that showed more ability in shooting

ALL ON ANXIOUS SEAT

Slate Making Rather Easy But Very Hard to Pull Through

With the primary election only four days off, the county nominees on the Republican ticket are nowhere near the all-over-but-the-shouting period. Some will declare that they have the nominations cinched, but the only one who is really serene on that score is Dr. A. V. Lewis of Donora, Republican candidate for prothonotary. He has no opposition, and is sure to land the Republican nomination. Even the most sanguine candidates are lacking in the smile that Dr. Lewis wears, which, like President Taft's, won't come off.

As a matter of fact the result is all a gamble. Even the alleged slate is broken so far as hanging together is concerned. The different elements who promoted the alleged deal are not trusting each other, and a comparison of notes has revealed the fact that some of the most active ones in the alleged frame-up have been trying to deal outside. The friends of two of the candidates for the same office who were not named in the alleged combine were comparing notes the other night, and it was discovered that each candidate had assurance from one of the prominent alleged slate makers of active support and each thought he had the matter cinched in that quarter. As the majority of the candidates on the alleged frame-up were not a party to the deal themselves, they are trying to work out their own salvation with the voters just as ardently as though they had no powerful interests back of them, which as a matter of fact, none are sure that they have.

For the last week the anti-slate elements have been concentrating their fire on Donora, which is pretty sure to give its solid Republican vote to Dr. Lewis. As this solid vote of Donora's was the incentive for the alleged frame-up it is a matter of some surprise that efforts should have been made to have gotten the opposition to Lewis removed. This puts Donora in a position by which it is forced to show its hand in the alleged deal, and if the solid vote is cast for other candidates of the alleged slate it will certainly jeopardize Lewis' chances at the November election, as a big contingent, if reports are true, are busily grinding their snickersees in order to be ready for an emergency.

A careful survey by some of the old political scouts along the river resulted in the conclusion that the voters generally have not made up their minds, and that some psychological force at the last moment may turn a considerable tide of voters in this or that direction, or it may be so evenly divided that it will be a close race with the field. No one really knows who is in the lead, except that certain elements are favorable to this or that candidate, but none of these elements are sufficient in themselves to pull any one candidate through.

Those best informed on the situation invariably report that the vote

OHIO'S CONSTITUTION.

It is stated that Ohio is to have a
new constitution, and that a convention to revise the old one and com-
pile a new code to submit for the people to adopt will be called soon. Already some radical features are being
presented and submitted for the proposed changes.

Chief among these will be the referendum and recall. This one feature has already gained such a popularity that demands are being made
for it all along the line. The labor
organizations want it; the farmers,
that is the granger element, are hot
for it, and a big element of the conservative middle class business people, the merchants, small manufac-
urers and those not interested in
large corporate and industrial interests in favor of the people being
he direct arbiters of all public affairs. In connection with the referendum and recall some radical propositions are made, one of which is
that no court should declare a law unconstitutional after the people have
declared for it. This is not so radical after all, as the people are not likely to endorse anything inimical
to their welfare in the long run.

A constitutional revision just now
would be an interesting process, and
proceedings in Ohio will no doubt be
watched with interest by economical
students in all of the States.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN.

There is much talk of "trust bust-
ing" these days and with the possible investigation of the United States Steel corporation by the Government to see whether or not that
concern is doing business in conflict with the anti-trust laws, there is
a possibility of that mammoth concern and all its various interests shut-
ting down and awaiting the decision
of the Government and be idle for an
indefinite period while its officials
decide what to do with its business.

As a result of this adjustment the
enforced idleness would likely include the big tin plate mill at Mon-
essen, all the mammoth works at Donora, the big blast furnaces at Bamford and the billet mills on

down to the wire mills. In addition
all the mines of the Pittsburgh Coal
company would be affected, as the United States Steel corporation gets
the big end of its coal supply from
the Pittsburgh Coal company. If
this gigantic trust is "busted," those
who feed upon the imaginary wrongs
of the trusts would no doubt feel a
gleam of satisfaction, but would it
pay? Is this satisfaction sufficient
compensation for the idleness entailed
upon the hundreds of thousands of
working people who would be with-
out jobs during this re-construction
period, and the consequent set-back
to progress it would entail?

It is well to talk about the period
of readjustment. We in Charleroi are
doing the readjustment act to a considerable extent just now. We are trying to adjust business conditions
so that we can get along without the
aid of the payrolls of two big industries, the Pittsburg Plate Glass factory and the Charleroi Coal Works
both adjuncts of a big trust, which although not "busted," is nevertheless
feeling the restraints of depressed
business to such an extent that the
big industries here are shut down and
idle, with the result that the readjust-
ment involves dozens of good families moving out of town to seek employment elsewhere. Because of this
about $50,000 a month less is being
paid out here in wages; houses are
unrented and idle, and incomes from
that source cut off. Every business
house is doing less business on account of this shut down and the re-
adjustment process is a most severe
one for the present generation at
least.

The trust is the evolution of cut-
throat competition, and there must be another evolution to meet the situation instead of "busting" the trusts
and going through the same fierce
competition that demoralized all industry until an agreement was reached to pursue an even middle
course.

Charleroi readers of the Pittsburg Post and Sun will be interested to learn that some marked changes are in store for those papers as soon as their financial difficulties are settled.
The paper and plant were recently sold at receiver's sale and bid in by the Farmers Bank. Albert J. Barr, the former owner however, secured a stay of proceedings, as he claims a better bid than that offered is in prospect. It is rumored that W. H.

man, is after the plant, as well as the Wanamaker and Van Valkenberg interests of the Philadelphia North American.

tablishing a big newspaper in a large city is a most precarious business enterprise, and it is a matter of fact that less than 25 successful newspapers in large cities have been established in the United States during the past 50 years. The Post lost over $200,000 in trying to establish the

QUESTIONS ACCURACY

down defenseless people than in
fighting the Prussians a few months
before.

Because the American Socialists
celebrate the fight for Freedom in Paris in 1871 does not mean that they
celebrate the deeds of revenge or cruelty that occur in all wars? And
if the Socialist speaker had tried to
impress the audience with the idea
that when we celebrate here the 4th
of July we celebrate the many deeds
of unnecessary violence committed
during the war, she would have also
been interrupted.

The Paris Commune was by no
means a Socialist upheaval and
whatever may have been its short-
comings and the deeds of the last
days of fighting all impartial historians admit that during the three months Paris was administered by
the government elected after the 18th
of March, there was less crime than
during any other period.

Again, what would you say of a
man who after asking his opponent if
he stood by the Republican platform
would dig into the religious views and
marital relations of some prominent Republican and say: "There you are,
you endorse his views and actions." How much patience would you have with that method of debating?

All the Socialists are not angels.
Neither are all the Republicans or Democrats. And Socialism as a political party is not bothering itself
with religion. Our platform says
that religion is a personal matter,
and that is the collective expression
of the Socialists.

I remember the time when the
miners were beginning to organize
the operators tried to keep them apart
on religious prejudice. Now that the
working people are beginning to
unite politically the same tactics are
again used. But they will fail.

If there is in Charleroi any one who
cares to debate the question, I am at
his service on the condition that it
will be a debate and not a mud sling-
ing party.

LIFE PERIODS AND CLOTHES

How a Man's Tastes in Raiment Differ From Youth to Careless Old Age.

It is interesting to follow a man in the matter of his raiment. There are established periods in his life where in his tastes differ, and his ways differ, and from start to finish the matter is one of considerable interest.

When he is under age and at college, his taste runs riot in the matter of clothing. Weird checks, fearful plaids, remarkable cuts of balloon-like pants and box-like coats appeal to him. The matter of a quarter inch in length of a coat concerns him greatly, and he begins to have his pants pressed with four creases in them, pointing to the north, south, east and west.

When he goes to work he carries some of this wonderful raiment with him. It is a link that connects him with glad college days. But the link wears out, and he is busy, and presently you see him in wholly different attire. He is neat enough, but his weird taste has changed.

He now goes in for business suits and is painfully exact in his dress for the evening.

But as he gets along in business he ceases to have his clothing pressed. He marries and his wife keeps after him to put on a clean collar. He has long ceased to wear shoes for looks and has his shoes made to order because he likes 'em to be 4 17-18 inches wide at the toe in order to obtain comfort. He has them shined whenever any event comes along and reminds him of it.

And finally his whole family leap upon him. They call him slouchy, and when he gets a new suit it is a family matter in which the individual views of the family combine, and his own are lost. For it's always that way, and probably always will be. —Galveston News.

GUARANTY OF HIS SILENCE

Presence of Masterful Wife in Church Stopped Objectionable Noise Man Thought Was Singing.

Unexpectedly a city pastor who encouraged congregational singing gained a new parishioner. Keen though his delight in hearing his people sing, there was one member of his flock whose endeavors he never encouraged. But the man sang without encouragement, much to the discomfort of pewholders anywhere near him, who claimed that his loud, unmusical voice threw them out of tune and tune.

Repeated complaints convinced the minister that somebody would have to assume the responsibility of silencing the ambitious singer. He decided that the man's wife was best fitted for the job. Owing to a difference in religious views husband and wife attended different churches, but the minister knew her, so he called and explained his predicament. She was genuinely surprised.

"Do you mean to say he sings?" she said.

"Tries to," amended the pastor. She thought a minute. "I shall have to come there to church," she said.

"I shall be glad to see you," said the minister, "but what effect will that have on your husband's singing?"

The look she gave him was more significant than words, and they meant a good deal.

"John will never open his mouth when I am around," she said. And John never has.

The Child Snob.

There is a natural, snob and rather high-minded etiquette among children; also is there an unlovely and artificial etiquette among children who have heard and seen too much of an unlovely world; for children can be the worst of snobs. Some little girls, ten or twelve years old, daughters of a rich neighborhood, were found to be examining the petticoats of new children who ventured in their neighborhood to play. Unless their underclothes were hand-made, they were not voted good enough to play in the established set! A child may be cruelly ostracized for some difference, some lack of clothing or appearance. Do you remember the story of the poor little girl who used to bring blocks tied up in a napkin to school to look as though she had lunch like the other children? But among unspoiled and natural children the child who is different need not suffer for any length of time. A strong character and a sweet temperament will win through any artificial barrier of circumstances.—The Designer.

Something Like a Nerve.

The talk in the club had been of cool deeds or the battlefield, when the member who rarely spoke broke in on our conversation.

"The coolest bit of nerve I ever saw," he drawled, "was when I was motoring in the Midlands with the Honorable Jimmy. It had been raining, and as we turned the corner of the village street we skidded badly, then shot forward. Crashing into the little postoffice, we smashed the front of the shop clean through and knocked down the village postman. It was then that the Honorable Jimmy showed what he was made of. He jumped out of the car, and, advancing to the terrified girl behind the counter, said in his blandest voice:

"Two ha'penny stamps, please, miss!"—London Tit-Bits.

Can Defy Microbes.

A doctor in Yokohama Japan built himself a novel house with a view to guarding against microbes. The walls of this remarkable edifice are made of blocks of glass. They are hollow, the interstices being filled up with a solution of salts of soda which is intended to regulate the temperature of the interior. The windows are hermetically closed, and air is only admitted after passing through filters.

Curious Neighbors Follied.

A wealthy New York society woman has recently become very much interested in city missionary work. In her district is a poor but respectable family named Moriarty, living on the top floor rear of a tenement house in a congested east side street.

Every time she has visited the Moriarts she has been much annoyed by the staring and whispering of the other occupants of the building. The other day she spoke to Mrs. Moriarty about it.

"Your neighbors seem very curious to know who and what I am," she remarked.

"They do so," acquiesced Mrs. Moriarty.

"Do they ask you about it?"

"Indeed they do, ma'am."

"And do you tell them?"

"Faith, thin, an' Oi do not. Oi jist say you're me dressmaker, an' let it go at that!"—Metropolitan Magazine.

Ancient Painters.

Among the Greeks the most famous painters were Cimon of Cleona, Polygrotus, Zeuxis, Apelles, Appollodorus and Parrhasius. Of these the greatest were Zeuxis, who is said to have laughed himself to death over the picture of an old woman that he had painted, and Apelles, who, according to some accounts, painted cherries so perfectly that the birds pecked at them, thinking them real. Apelles was a contemporary of Alexander the Great, and was commanded by the conqueror of the world to paint his picture. His greatest work was "Venus Rising From the Sea," painted for the Temple of Esculapius, at Cos, and costing, it is said, over $100,000. It is claimed that no artist was able to complete his unfinished pictures, many of which he left at the time of his death.

The Fatal Ring.

An amazing story is told by the late head of the Paris morgue. Five times within his experience dead bodies brought to the morgue were found to be wearing a certain ring easily distinguishable by its strange design. It bore in Eastern characters this legend: "May whosoever wears this ring die a miserable death." M. Macoe, late chief of the Paris police, vouches for the truth of this.

The Shutter in No More.

A writer describes the forenoon Sunday Strand and Fleet Street as "a shuttered desert," and doubtless he is quite satisfied with the phrase. But is it accurate? How many shuttered windows does he think he would see in these thoroughfares on a Sunday, or at any other time when the shops are shut? As a matter of fact the shutter has gone from central London, and is rapidly passing even from the suburbs. At what date did the shutter begin to disappear? It was a fitting of all shops as late as the '80s. The worst the modern shop shows on Sundays is the blind. And most shops present the week-day temptation with a closed door.—London Chronicle.

She Had Consumption Was Dying—Now Well

Eckman's Alternative is being used with success in the treatment of Tuberculosis. Persons who have taken it improved, gained weight, exhausted night sweats stopped, fever diminished, and many recovered. If you are interested to know more about it, we will put you in touch with some who are now well. You can investigate and judge for yourself. Head of Mrs. Goret's recovery: Griffith, Ind.

"Gentlemen: Thinking that perhaps a short history of the remarkable cure of my mother-in-law (Mrs. Anna Goret) might benefit some other sufferers, I hereby give the following testimonial: About September 10, 1906, she was taken sick with Catarrhal Pneumonia, and continually grew worse, requiring a trained nurse. Night sweats were so bad that it was necessary to change her clothing once or twice every night; her cough increased and got so bad that everybody expected that she would not live much longer. The trained nurse (Miss Anna Trinen) informed me that she had Tuberculosis and nothing could be done for her. In January, when Rev. Wm. Berg, of St. Michael's Church, at Shreveville, Ind., prepared for her death, he recommended that I get some Eckman's Alternative, and see if it would not give her some relief. I then requested the attending physician to give his diagnosis and he informed me that she had Consumption and was beyond all medical aid. When I asked if he thought that it was useless to try the Alternative, he replied that 'No physician could help her any, and I can't suit myself about it.' So I immediately ordered a bottle to send for a bottle. Practically without hope for recovery, I insisted that she try the Alternative, which she did. At the end of the first week's treatment, she got so bad that she refused to take any more of it, but the doctor advised her to keep on taking it, as it was the only thing that might help her. I am glad to say now that she kept on and soon began to improve. Now, she works as hard as ever, weighs twenty pounds heavier than she ever did before she took sick, and is in good health. She frankly says she owes her life and health to Eckman's Alternative. We keep it on hand at all times and recommend it highly."

(Signed Affidavit) JES. GRIMMER, Echman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists and W. An Eskimo's Dwelling.

We do not look for any great amount of inventive genius among the Eskimos, but for years they have employed a rather complete respirator, used in the preparation and taking of a vapor bath, as a means of protection from the dense smoke. This Eskimo respirator is a little basket woven of twisted strands of fine grass. It is placed with its shallow side against the mouth, and a wooden peg, which arises from the center of the basket, is held between the teeth. For this purpose water is evaporated over a big fire in a very low hut, which is tightly closed to keep in the heat. In this stifling atmosphere the employment of a respirator is absolutely necessary.

Man's Actual Needs.

Ten cents a day is the amount actually required for food to sustain a human. The remainder of the money is spent for flavoring.

RAILROAD LINE NEARS COMPLETION

Important Connections with This Section When Route is Opened

It is announced that the sub-grading on the street car line between Monongahela and Donora will be completed this coming week, after which the work of construction will actively begin. A number of teams have already been engaged to haul ballast for the track, which will be distributed along the line as fast as delivered. The girded rail will be used on this stretch of track and the road will be paved between the rails with brick. The work of construction will begin at the Donora end and will be pushed as fast as weather will permit.

Already a large quantity of ties have been distributed between Black Diamond and the Donora borough line as well as a consignment of rails. With the ballast in place it will not require the construction gang a great deal of time to place the ties and rails. The line should be completed before the fall weather is over.

BOOZE SELLERS GET HEAVY SENTENCE

Two pleaders were before Judge McIlvaine at Washington Monday. Annie Yauch of Monongahela, who had been conducting a boarding house admitted selling beer. She gave as her excuse that she had not been in this country long and did not understand the customs. She was directed to pay the costs, fine of $500 and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for three months.

Adam Marshall of Bentleyville, signed a plea of guilty to selling liquor without license. The private prosecutor was W. E. Snyder, the constable. Marshall stated he had not been engaged in the illegal business of selling liquor without license. He stated a man simply came to him and asked him for a bottle of beer. He gave him one, the man threw down ten cents, and was gone before he could refuse to take the money. He was given the minimum sentence of $500 and costs and three months in jail.

VICTIM STABBED; DIES IN HOSPITAL

Jim Johnson, a negro, who is alleged to have been stabbed by Garfield Garnett in a row over a gambling debt at Monongahela Friday, died in the Memorial hospital Saturday night. Garnett was arrested after the stabbing and is now in the county jail.

The murder was the alleged result of a quarrel over a game of chance in which it was claimed that a debt or honor was unsettled between the two men. An argument started and it is alleged that Garfield plunged a knife into Johnston's abdomen. Shortly after the cutting Garfield was arrested by Constable W. J. Hilton.

DRAWN OUT POISON

Marvelous Antiseptic that Draws Glass, Wood and Needles from The Flesh.

There never was known such a powerful drawing ointment as San Cura. Wherever it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitchcock, of Centerville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

Nothing so healing or antiseptic can be purchased today. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by W. F. Hennings' to quickly cure any kind of piles, eczema, tetter, salt rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains, and chapped hands or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies such as bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it kills the pain instantly. It's medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 25c and 50c a jar at W. F. Hennings'.

Best Skin Soap.

Is San Cura Soap, because of its great antiseptic and healing virtues. Use it regularly, and it will make the skin soft and velvety; will remove pimples and blackheads. It's the real soap for babies' tender skin, which mothers of infants should remember. 25 cents a large cake at W. F. Hennings'.

will be divided in their respective districts, so far as they can learn, and that as all the candidates are good and efficient men, no particular one has the lead. If one shows any particular strength in one community, he is likely to be supplanted by another elsewhere, and so it goes. While it may develop that some one candidate may run away ahead at the election, there is nothing to indicate it now, and for that reason all will continue to be on the anxious seat after the primary—Dr. Lewis of course excepted.

Victim of Hard Luck

James Keenan, a street car conductor in Washington is a victim of hard luck. Saturday evening he alighted from his car to turn a switch light at a corner crossing in Washington, when a bicycle rider came along and knocked him down. Before he could get up an auto wizzed along and ran over him. Keenan awoke in bed and was unable to tell whether he had been caught in a wreck or was blown up by dynamite.

LADY MACCABEES

Have Pleasant Time and Present Hostess With Pretty Emblem

Dropping in suddenly and unannounced the Lady Maccabees gave one of their sisters, Mrs. Mary Nicholson of Crest avenue, a very pleasant surprise Monday evening. This was one of a series of surprises which this order has been conferring upon beloved members when occasion warranted, such as a birthday anniversary, or an opportunity to show their esteem, and the present affair was up to the standard in being enjoyable. Various diversions furnished entertainment, one of which was the presentation of a handsome Maccabee emblem to the hostess. Lunch was served, which was not the least enjoyable feature of the evening.

WILL GIVE APPLES

TO SPECTATORS

The fruit growers of Oregon have arranged through the Oregon Development League of Portland, to send a car load of Oregon apples to the Pittsburgh Land Show next month for free distribution to visitors there. The railroads will give this car free transportation from the Pacific slope and also have fine fruit displays in this show, and it is likely that the growers of West Virginia will initiate the example of Oregon in providing a large quantity of apples to be used as free gifts to visitors.

W. E. COREY

FOR CONSTABLE

G. W. Corey in this issue announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination for constable. Mr. Corey has been a citizen of Charleroi ever since the town started, and is well and favorably known. He was 13 years weighmaster at the Charleroi Coal Works, a position of responsibility and trust that required good business qualifications to fill and which Mr. Corey performed to the satisfaction of his employer. If nominated and elected he promises to give the same careful business attention to the duties of the office, and he presents his claims to the voters for their consideration at the primary.
